

HOSTILE ENVIRONMENT AWARENESS TRAINING COURSE

ArmorGroup International's Hostile Environment Awareness Training (HEAT)® course has been devised to train and prepare clients, who are deploying to hostile or hazardous environments, to recognise and avoid potential threats and equip them, if necessary, to respond to any type of incident. The course can be taught at clients' locations or at ArmorGroup's purpose-built and secure facilities at Al Hillah, near Baghdad in Iraq, or Anjuman Base, near Kabul in Afghanistan.

ArmorGroup's HEAT course uses a systems approach technique which initially addresses the student's security environment and stresses the importance of travel pattern analysis, surveillance detection and attack recognition. ArmorGroup believes that this increased awareness, backed up with the necessary skills to deal with the problem, is the key to defeating the majority of incidents likely to be experienced by students.

ArmorGroup's HEAT course, which combines theory with relevant practical experience, has consistently been at the forefront of innovative, realistic and effective training and is taught by operationally experienced and professionally qualified instructors. The course can be modified specifically for clients' mission requirements although ArmorGroup recommends students in Afghanistan receive training in the following core syllabus:
